AAGE Standards

Commitment to the Seventh-day Adventist Message

All of the members of the AAGE Network must be committed believers in the Seventh-day Adventist message and put its principles into practice into their daily life. We encourage each member to put its principles into practice into their daily life, to be people of integrity and uncompromising fidelity to the Scriptures, and set a christian example in word and deed which includes our actions, speech, and dress. We encourage them to take heed to the counsel of the Spirit of Prophecy that God has given His Remnant people revealed in the writings of Ellen G. White. Its words of instruction and warnings are very valuable to God's people as we go forth to fulfill the mission in these last days.

All members of the AAGE Network must understand the commission that God has given His church to go into all the world to "teach all nations" baptizing them in the name of the co-eternal and divine Father, Son, and Holy Ghost. Matthew 28:18-20 The AAGE Network will not allow anti-trinitarian ideology.

True Unity and Harmony

Just as unity was critical in the work of the new testament church, unity in the final work of theses last days is even more crucial. In the closing work the spirit of true unity and harmony, as was manifested during the time of the new testament church, is needed now more than ever before. Only in a spirit of unity and harmony will we press against the darkness of the world and plant valiantly the standard of truth. Only in that spirit will we press against the difficulties Satan has tried to erect in the way of the truth. It is only through that spirit that the everlasting gospel in its fullness will be preached to every living person on the planet.

Though diverse in gifts and abilities, "diverse in mind, in ideas, one subject is to bind heart to heart—the conversion of souls to the truth, which draws all to the cross." (3MR 13.2) We are "...many members, yet but one body." 1 Corinthians 12:20 The fruit of true unity forms a "complete, symmetrical whole" in which its partakers are working in harmony under the direction of the Holy Spirit.

God will unite his church. He will join his people together heart to heart, shoulder to shoulder to proclaim the everlasting gospel to the world. Through the workings of the Holy Spirit there will be "...a well-balanced, symmetrical development of the work in all its parts." 6T 326.3 As in the days of Pentecost, in the final work we will "...stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel". Philippians 1:27

All forms of backbiting, envying, strife, and division among the Seventh-day Adventist movement must end. AAGE members should cherish this vital principle of true unity as we move forward to give the everlasting gospel to the world and pray for the outpouring of Holy Spirit.
